Knowledgeable and Intuitive:

You are a well-informed person who will put into practice what you are learning in creative ways. You know what it takes to study or prepare for success. Being knowledgeable helps you to think in successful ways and avoid making repetitive mistakes. Remember, what you learn today is what you need to be successful tomorrow. Be open to new ideas and learn from your day to day experiences to develop the ability for making good decisions in life.

Innovative and Creative:

You like to be creative and think outside the box. You will turn challenges into learning opportunities. You Like to work with others to turn creative ideas into success. When taking the smart risks required for true success, you will adapt when needed to create success. It takes courage to step outside one's comfort zone and try things that others will not. Never allow fear to hold you back from being the best you can be.

Growth Mindset:

You bounce back from challenges and quickly adapt when what you have tried is not working. A person with a growth mindset sees challenges as an opportunity to become smarter. You understand that making mistakes is an important way of learning and do not define you. By facing uncomfortable tasks, you will discover untapped strengths and potential for greatness. What you believe about yourself is the key to what you will achieve.

Success Motivated:

To be successful, you need to develop a strong work ethic and motivation to go beyond average. Give 110 percent in everything you do and do not give up easily. A person with this strength has the character traits of perseverance, adaptability, creativity, confidence and personal empowerment. Once you have learned something, it is important to apply what you learned to create new successes. Going the extra mile to be successful is the difference between being average and experiencing exceptional greatness.

Good Judgement and Accountable:

Develop a "common sense" approach to making decisions and accept responsibility for your decisions. It is important to weigh the pros and cons of your choices and not jump to conclusions. Your ability to take the initiative and act upon what you know to be right will make you a unique person that others will respect. Being thoughtful and accountable indicates that you are honest, brave and humble. Being aware that we do not know everything we need to be successful should motivate us to be continuous learners. This is a strength that others will value and respect.
